The social changes going on in the British army are brought into notice by a peculiar agitation. Since it be-came possible for private soldiers to rise from the ranks to a commission, it s a common thing for scions of the entry and nobility to enlist as private oldiers, and gradually rise by examin-tions to be officers. It is well under-stood that these young gentlemen will not remain in the ranks very long, and a promotion; but while in the ranks he twigs of nobility are terribly galled by the social rules laid down for the overnment of the army. "Out of Joint." The whole Democratic situation in Ohio seems to be "out of joint." The bearings of the Democratic machine There is the disaffection in the party from local causes, which, of course, would not for the other troubles growing out of lver coinage, and the tariff. It is becoming clearer every day that the free coinage plank will lose them the German vote, which ordinarily, in that state, is Democratic. The German is always found on the side of honest money. His mind is irrevocably fixed on this question. His thrift and ability to se nanage his offsire as to lay up a little each year, patiently waiting for the sum to grow to such dimensions as to guaran-tee him from want makes of him a man vho knows the worth of a dollar, and that the only way to make it is to save it, and such men never can be caught by the ladvocates of a rainbow system of Democracy on the money question the lew York Stauts Zeitung, the leading accratic German paper in the counry says, among other things:

It is a mathematical impossibility that a double standard with gold and silver dollars of different (metal) values silver dollers of different (meta) values could go hand in hand with free coinage, and it is a mathematical certainty that with free coinage we will be subjected to a silver standard, while, in such case, it is not probable that other nations would assist to restore a double standard; on the contrary, by following such policy we would help to strengthen the exclusive gold standard in Europe and render our country the dumping ground for silver. We can now see how the Ohio Domocrats, in view of such powerful arguments, will be able to save themselves otherwise than by having the idiotic silver plank in their platform ignored by Gov. Campbell and other speakers, or introd.

The prospects of the Democracy in Chio are not so brilliant that they could risk their vote in favor of free coinage. Ohio will not vote in that direction much less than she voted in 1875 against esumption. Neither can the Ohio Democrats in their fight for free coinage Democrate in their light for free configers expect sympathy or help from the Democrate of the East. On the contrary the latter would be convinced that the deleted of Campbell was a matter of necessity from the standpoint of public and much intended.

LIEUTENANT C. C. TODD, executive filter of the United States gunboat, the Charleston, who made the exciting chase and capture of the Itata, says the tall of the wenderful Chilean insurgent navy is nonsense, and that the Charlestor could have demolished the whole thing in fifteen minutes. He thinks a fight be tween the Charleston and the Itata would have been a remarkable example of modern warfare, as on the Charleston every detail was so carefully planued that a midshipman could have continued the command after every officer had been killed. This indicates that among our naval officers there is not the same fear of the impotency of our naval vessels as among such of our people as are in posttion to know less about our war ships. An effort is being made in Germany to ruffic. Among them is one proposing that all liquor venders shall also sell shall be made to either drunkards or Pope therefrom. minors. These propositions have caused great activity among the dealers in oppoition to their enactment. In Berlin bey are organizing, using as a rallying ory the assertion that the proposed legistion is tectotalism and in the line of estraining personal liberty. These dealers also argue that no one can readily tell the age of a customer, or whether h is a drimkard. When one acquainted with contests on this question in this country reads these arguments, they rom alien corporations and aliens are among its strongest advocates. An opposition is developing in the House of Lords to the elevation of William Henry Smith to the pecrage. As a commoner Mr. Smith has had great influence. His ability and leadership have beon recognized throughout the realm but it seems when the question of elevating him to a place among the peers, who are more ornamental than useful to the British Government, his blood is too thin. The peerage is a place where brains and usefulness do not count, and some fine morning Great Britain will wake up to find the House of Lords abolished. Mr. Hath is unquestionably right in saying that the victory will ultimately rest with the auti-sub-tressury wing of the Alliance, as the people are on the cure, as well as relieve. And it's all done so mildly and gently!

By repeating each combination a few times, with an interval of ten seconds between, possibilities of error in reading the forecasts will be avoided, such as may arise from variable winds or failure to hear the warning signal.

As the weather forecasts are telegraphed saily to a large number of stations of the Weather Burean, to railroads, etc., in various sections of the country, there are many small towns which may obtain them by telephone, free of expenses; the may also be obtained from daily newspapers. Those desiring to display or sound the signals, and who are not able to obtain the fore casts as above, can communicate direct with the director of the state whether bureau, and if its impracticable for the United State to bear the expense of transmission they will be furnished at the regular commercial rate and sent "collected."
